Getting set up. Behind the lights is the main control room. Many famous hits were recorded in this room.

Shayne and Steve after the filming finished at the grand piano that was used by Elvis.

The piano you see here in these photos was Elvis' piano used in many of his recording sessions. Famous singer and manager, Gordon Stoker described a typical Elvis session; "He'd get into the studio around seven at night for a six o'clock session. If he was hungry he'd order out for Krystal burgers, then we'd eat and go sit with him around the piano. He liked to get warmed up with old spirituals, gospel stuff. This would help him get relaxed. After a couple of hours, we'd get around to recording."
